T. V. POWDERLY.

The Knights' Leader Will Not Accept a Re-Election,

UNLESS IT IS TENDERED PRACTICALLY UNANIMOUSLY.

Previously He Has Worked for Re-Election—The Proposed Reduction in Salary and Two Good Offers From the New York World the Cause of His Desire to Retire From Office.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—The Inquirer says: "From an absolutely authentic source it has been learned that General Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, will not accept a re-election by the general assembly, now in session at Indianapolis, unless it comes practically unanimously."

"The person giving this information, which was not intended for publication, occupies a high official position in the order, and is in some measure a confidant of Mr. Powderly's. Heretofore the labor leader has always worked for a re-election, and one of his reasons for not doing so this time is that the salary attached to the office will be reduced from the present figure, $5,000 per year, to at least $3,500, and may be lower. Then another reason is that the New York World has made him two offers, one of $5,000 per year for his best energies for six hours per day, and the other offering to pay his expenses and a liberal salary for a European tour to study the condition of the wage-workers and the general industrial system on the other side, and to furnish one letter each week giving a comprehensive summary of his observations."

"As there is almost sure to be some opposition to the re-election of the present general master workman, it will take but a short time to show whether or not this intention of Mr. Powderly is stable. Those in a position to know say that in case of his absolute refusal to serve again a dark horse will be sprung on the convention, but it will not be anyone whose name has been connected with the office."

Powderly's Annual Report.
 INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 17.—General Master Workman Powderly, in his annual report, says:

"The year whose ending we witness at this session has been the most trying and discouraging to those whose wish was to see the harmonious blending of all classes of workers. With an executive board, whose members were not in harmony, and who traveled from place to place denouncing their fellow-officers, it could not be wondered that we have lost in numbers."

"If my advice is taken at the outset this general assembly will frown down every attempt to disturb this session with bickerings and recriminations. There has been no dishonesty, or attempt at it. If extravagance is discovered, fix the responsibility where it belongs. Remember that upon the final outcome of this session depends the future of the order."

"No session ever gathered in council with such responsibility. The general master workman should have nothing to do with financial matters that are now in too many hands. The chief trouble with our order is the lack of one-man power. Men have been placed in office with me with whom I would not for a moment associate in private business enterprise."

"The laws should give the master workman power to render decisions, with an appeal to the executive board, and from there to the general assembly. I recommend changing the time of meeting of the general assembly to a date not near the annual elections."

"No one is better adapted to an investigation of woman's work than the present general investigator."

"The amendment allowing the speedy change of an existing law is unwise, dangerous and pernicious. Scarcely had the gavel fallen at Minneapolis than traitors' hands were raised against the work of years."

"A law should be passed at this meeting to promptly and forever expel any member guilty of such dastardly work. Let us at once and forever put it beyond the power of any man to fight this order or its principles and remain a member. Let them tear down from the outside."

"The members of the International Workmen's association have untiringly worked for the ruin of this order. I have no bitterness for any one, but if the policy of the officers have not been in accord with the principles of the order, let the assembly voice the opinion of the order before adjournment."

"There can be hardly any doubt but that Powderly will choose the officers, and that the executive board will be reduced to five. Within the order there seems to be confidence and no fear for the future. At no time, it is said by delegates, has Powderly had such a hold over them as he has now."

Retrenchments financially must be considered, but the key of the situation is that Powderly and all would rather have a smaller order, provided that it is harmonious, a unit and free from cliques and contention than an unwieldy multitude divided into factions."

The thinning out is going on and when it is done, all according to Powderly's direction, the building up is to begin again if possible."

Although committee work occupied most of the time of the delegates to the general assembly, there is still considerable time for gossip about matters of interest to the order. Nearly every expression of opinion, however, is stated with an "if," and that contingent is Powderly's acceptance of the chief office, which in turn depends on the action that may be taken on his address."

Unless favorable action is taken on certain of his recommendations it is believed that he will positively decline to serve. On the other hand, if favorable action is taken and the call is practically unanimous, it is believed he will accept. There is a general feeling in his favor, and yet there are enough differences of opinion as to methods of reaching the same end as to make it rather interesting."

Whitechapel Clev.
 ELGIN, Ill., Nov. 17.—Seven or eight years ago a man named George Hutchinson, an inmate of the asylum here, was very handy with his knife, and delighted to visit the hospital slaughter house, making many peculiar toys from bones. After escaping from Elgin he was captured at Kankakee. He escaped from that place, and, it is said, murdered a respectable woman in Chicago, mutilating her body in a way similar to the Whitechapel cases. He was returned to Kankakee, but afterward escaped, and has been at large three or four years.

JACKSONVILLE.

Sixteen New Cases and Four Deaths Reported Thursday.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 17.—Sixteen new cases of yellow fever were reported for the twenty-four hours ending at 6 p. m. Thursday, with four deaths. Of the new cases seven are whites. Total cases to date, 4,568; deaths, 393.

The Clyde line steamer which arrived at Mayport Wednesday brought as passengers W. A. Hazen, his wife and two children. Hazen, with his family, left here for the north a few weeks after yellow fever became epidemic here, and have since been in New York. Thursday Hazen and his wife came here by rail. They were notified that refugees were not yet permitted to return, and they were obliged to leave town. They claim to have had the fever before going north, but will have to prove that fact before they are admitted.

Canada Don't Want 'Em.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 17.—The Mormon delegates who are here conferring with the government, regarding their settlement in the northwest, encountered a serious setback Thursday. They had taken it for granted that the law prohibiting them from practicing polygamy applied only to future marriages, but when they asked for assurance against prosecution of such Mormons as already possessed polygamous wives, they were met with a refusal. They were also refused permission to bring into the country a large quantity of machinery free of duty. They are greatly disheartened over the result of their interviews with the officials, and say that the decisions rendered will have a very material effect on Mormon immigration in the Canadian northwest.

Storms on the Lakes.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 17.—The severest northwest gale of the season raged all night. The weather was bitterly cold. One of the deck hands of the barge S. C. Baldwin, named Louis Nelquest, was drowned as the vessel was entering the canal. The engineer of the Baldwin was scalded to death on the way down. At midnight while the barge Colorado was lying wind-bound at the west end of the canal, the schooner Iron Cliff struck her, tearing away thirty-five feet of her bulwarks and breaking nine feet of her stanchions. An unknown vessel went aground below Grand Marais Thursday night. The tug Andrew J. Smith went to her assistance.

Killed His Father-in-Law.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—In Wallingford, Thursday evening, Solon G. Jenkins shot and killed his father in law, Stephen Anthony, a respected resident of that place, aged sixty. Jenkins afterward shot off his right ear in an attempt at suicide. At the time of his marriage to Anthony's daughter five years ago, Jenkins was a prosperous merchant, but he soon took to drink, and his wife went to live with her parents. Jenkins has been on a spree for several days and has threatened to kill his father-in-law and the whole family. The murderer has been arrested.

Six Firms Fail.

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 17.—A financial crash took place here Thursday, six firms making assignments as follows: Bank of Durham, W. T. Blackwell, president, $400,000; E. J. Parrish, $190,000; J. W. Blackwell, coal dealer, $110,000; W. F. Ellis, $23,000; Muse & Shaw, $10,000, and Robbins & Stone, $5,000. The assets have not yet been announced. It is reported that some will pay in full, but this is only a rumor. The failures are a great surprise.

Murdered Over a Load of Cabbage.

SAGHEAW CITY, Mich., Nov. 17.—John Allen, a farmer, and Ralph Stewart quarreled about the division of a crop that the latter claimed to have planted. Thursday Stewart and others attempted to get a load of cabbages and, when ordered off by Allen, Stewart shot him, inflicting a fatal wound. Stewart and party were arrested.

A Whole Family Poisoned.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17.—A family of colored people, consisting of Henry Jackson, his wife and daughter, and Henrietta Robinson, residing on north Second street, are suffering from the effects of poison. The family claim they were taken ill after eating meat purchased regularly at a butcher shop. The case will be investigated.

Thirty Dollars Apiece for Woodcock.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Nov. 17.—Thomas Wilson, Del. Wilson, Ben. Bates and Levi Durringer, were fined $130 by Esquire Martin for violating the state game law, at the instance of Game Warden J. C. Sullivan. The first three shot four woodcocks, and Durringer purchased them. The birds were eaten by invalids here.

Resumed Work.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 17.—A sufficient gas supply having been secured, the 1,500 men of Jones & Laughlin's force have resumed work on the old schedule. Wharton & Company, Oliver Brothers & Phillips, and the Republic iron works are running on the new time schedule, that arrangement to continue until next Monday.

The Monon Strike.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 17.—The Monon yards are still blocked, and cars are loaded with perishable freight. Very little effort was made Thursday to move trains. Superintendent Woodward telegraphed the striking brakemen Thursday night that he would meet them in this city for a conference.

Two Persons Drowned.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Nov. 17.—Herman Anderson and a young lady friend left Rice's Point several days ago in a skiff, intending to come to this city to attend a dance. Nothing has since been heard of them and it is supposed that they were drowned.

EUROPE ALARMED

At the Rapid War Preparations of France and Russia.

THE GRAND OLD MAN THE RECIPIENT OF MANY CRITICISMS.

A Row in the French Chamber of Deputies Results in a Number of Challenges—A Vessel With Nine Hundred Passengers Supposed to Be Lost With all on Board.

Other Foreign News.

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—Both the Krenz Zeitung and the Post consider the redistribution of the west portion of the Russian army as implying a serious advance.

They say that the Russian garrisons on the frontiers have been strengthened by two, and in some cases by three divisions, which are also available for an advance.

The Post says: "The increase of France's military forces brings us nearer to war. This increase is being made at a rate with which the peace powers are scarcely able to keep pace. The same remark may be applied to Russia, the increase of whose military strength cannot be explained as a defensive measure."

The simultaneous preparations of both Russia and France for a great struggle is indicative of an entente between the two powers of long standing. Although an offensive and defensive alliance between the two can hardly be suspected owing to the mutability of French politics, yet she can be relied upon by Russia to be faithful to her ingrained determination to recover Alsace and Lorraine.

It is denied emphatically in Russian government circles that the new changes in the organization of the troops in western Russia have a warlike intent. The object of the movement, it is declared, is merely to develop the defenses necessary to present a military balance as compared with the forces maintained by neighboring powers.

Gladstone Criticized.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Mr. Gladstone has been criticised a great deal of late, and especially after the delivery of his speeches at Birmingham recently, for not outlining an Irish policy which he considers advisable for the government to follow and one which he advocates for the Liberal party. It was even a disappointment to his own followers in parliament that he did not, in his Birmingham addresses, offer a definite view of the plans which it is believed he cherishes for the remedial measures affecting Ireland.

One of the Liberal leader's intimate friends said to-day in regard to this subject: "It is not Mr. Gladstone's purpose to make any statement on the Irish question. What he thinks on the Irish question is too well known for any statement of a policy regarding it to be necessary. However, the reason that Mr. Gladstone does not formulate his plans in so many words, for the guidance of his party, or for the attack of his enemies, whichever way you choose to look at it, is that he does not consider it his place to do so. When he was prime minister, he stated very clearly what his policy would be in Irish matters. But now that he is a member of the house and not a government minister, he considers it the duty of the government to outline policies and not his."

The grand old man is greatly pleased at his reception at Birmingham and argues that if this hubbub of Unionism was ready to give Liberals such a welcome, the country at large is further advanced toward Liberal opinions than is generally supposed to be the case. Mr. Gladstone is confident that a general election would place his party in power. And from present outlooks there will be a chance for such an election in the near future. The contest over extending the Ashbourne act will be a hard one and the government proposition to spend $3,000,000 on new navy vessels will cause much opposition. The government is ready to go to pieces from internal dissensions and from whatever cause the fall comes the Liberals are ready to make the most of the opportunity.

Neither side expects that the bill for the extension of the Ashbourne act will be carried through in a week, although the closure rule will doubtless be freely used in forcing its passage. According to opposition estimates at least a fortnight must be given to its discussion.

In the French Chamber.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The cabinet has been informed by M. Goblet, minister of foreign affairs, that only England and Germany have agreed to the blockade of the east African coast. M. Goblet is awaiting the usual notification. He says France has taken steps toward establishing a strict watch to guard against slave trading, but will, however, admit the right to search only for arms and war material.

As a result of the discussion in the French chamber, which involved the libel by M. Numagilly that there are twenty Willsons in the budget committee, there were several challenges to duels, but all the difficulties were arranged amicably, except a quarrel between M. Cassagnac and M. Cales, in which case M. Cassagnac challenged his opponent.

A Feeling of Alarm.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Pall Mall Gazette views with alarm the enormous sum that it will cost the Parnellites to support their party in the investigation before the commission. Seven thousand pounds out of the £20,000 subscribed, have already been spent on the case. The Gazette urges that the more high-priced of Mr. Parnell's counsel retire until the conclusion of the Times' case, leaving the junior counsel to watch the proceedings up to that time. This advice is of course based upon the assumption that Mr. Parnell possesses ample proof that the letters and documents alleged to be his, are forgeries.

Minister Phelps Speaks.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The American minister, in a speech before the members of the Glasgow bar Thursday, said that nothing in the administration of justice in Great Britain was more excellent than the prompt and effective manner in which the laws were executed. But legal proceedings here, he thought, were too expensive. Doubtless the two branches of the legal profession in Great Britain were conspicuously successful, but the blending of both orders worked well in America and Canada, and why should it not work equally well in Great Britain?

The Rescript a Canard.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The News' Dublin special says that nothing is known there of the reported papal rescript on the Irish question. The archbishop has received nothing. The Times does not mention the rescript. The Standard's Dublin special says: it is not believed that such a document has been sent. The report originated in Limerick.

His Efforts a Failure.

MADRID, Nov. 17.—Senor Piy Margall, the leader of the Federal Republicans' group, has sent a circular to the various committees of his party, informing them of failure of his efforts to bring about a coalition between the Federal and progressive Republicans. He says that Senor Zarilla, the leader of the progressive Republicans, had opposed the idea of a written basis of action, which should be made public, but had expressed willingness to enter into a secret arrangement. This proposal Senor Margall refused to entertain.

Ministers and Home Rule.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Of the 960 non Episcopal ministers in Ireland, including Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists and Congregationalists, 564 signed the anti-Home Rule address to Lord Salisbury and Hartington, which was presented on Wednesday. Of the 126 composing the minority who refused to sign the address eight only were Home Rulers.

Lashing King Milan.

ODESSA, Nov. 17.—The indirect overtures of King Milan, of Serbia, for Russian support have been summarily rejected. The south Russian press freely describes him as a renegade Slav and an Austrian puppet. The press censor has not interfered with the newspapers for their attacks upon King Milan.

Storm on the English Coast.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Violent gales are reported along the west coast of Great Britain. Numerous wrecks have occurred. Among the vessels which were wrecked is the Norwegian bark Hypatia, which went ashore near Holyhead. No lives were lost.

Supposed to Be Lost.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A vessel which sailed from Cutch, India, bound for Bombay, with 900 natives on board, is long overdue, and it is supposed that she has foundered with all on board.

Foreign Notes.

Col. Francis Duncan, Conservative member of parliament for Holborn, is dead. Emperor William has gone to Dresden on a shooting expedition. He met with an enthusiastic welcome all along the route.

A bulletin has been issued by Mr. Bright's physician which says that the congestion is slightly better and the patient's temperature has been normal.

Sixty grain laden vessels have been detained in the Sea of Azof by the sudden formation of ice, and will probably be laid up for the winter.

Bells were rung and salves of artillery fired at Copenhagen in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of King Christian's ascension to the throne.

Mr. Edward Harrington, member of parliament for West Kerry, has been summoned for inciting to boycotting. The trial is set down for the 26th of November.

The czar has ordered Zichy, the court artist, to paint a large picture representing the recent railway disaster at Borki, where the imperial family narrowly escaped destruction.

During the hurricane that prevailed at Glasgow, Scotland, the dome of the exposition building was demolished and the ladies' industrial department in the structure was completely wrecked.

A deputation of leaseholders from Cork had private interviews Thursday with Mr. Balfour and Lord Hartington. They complained that they were excluded from the benefits of the land act. Both Mr. Balfour and Lord Hartington promised to consider the complaint.

The czaritch, while here, on his way to Copenhagen, was received in a most friendly manner by Emperor William, and paid every attention by the court and government officials. On his departure the emperor conferred upon him the appointment of honorary colonel of the Eighth regiment of Hussars.

The Parnell commission has resumed its sitting. Lady Mountmorres, the widow of the late Lord Mountmorres, deposed that a friendly feeling existed between her late husband, and the tenants on his estates in Ireland until land league meetings began. In July, 1880, her husband obtained an ejectment writ against one of the tenants, and on the 25th of September following, while she was absent in Scotland her husband was shot and killed. She attended the funeral and left Ebor Hall, the family residence in October of the same year. On her way to the steamer the people hooted at her and threw stones at her young son.

Sir Charles Russell proceeded to cross-examine the witness when she faints. Sir Charles thereupon intimated that he would not further examine the witness.

A Very Rough Passage.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The officers of the steamer Furnessia, which arrived Thursday from Glasgow, reports the passage most stormy and dangerous they ever experienced. The vessel was somewhat strained, but not seriously damaged. Mrs. S. S. Pearce, of Portland, Ore., a passenger, had her arm broken by being thrown to the deck by a burst of the vessel. The steamer was two days overdue on arrival. Her passengers report a serious experience. They were kept below decks throughout the entire voyage, and were tossed about until most of them were bruised more or less, and all were thoroughly tired out.

Both Killed.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17.—A special to the Picayune from Bayou Sara, La., says: Van Matthews and J. B. Woodruff, of Point Cooper parish, fought Thursday at New Roads over a land purchase. Matthews was killed and Woodruff is dying. Both were well known citizens. Woodruff leaves a young wife and two children. Matthews leaves a young wife.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY.
Proprietors.

SATURDAY EVE., NOV. 17, 1888.

THE Manchester Signal, Republican, thinks Brown County should be annexed to the "Solid South." Brown County's all right.

CINCINNATI capitalists are said to be turning their attention to Southeastern Kentucky. It promises a profitable field for investments.

THE Republicans of Flemingsburg will do their part of the jollifying next Tuesday night. A delegation was here yesterday after "Old Zollicoffer."

THE Democrats of Louisville must have had their war paint on at the late election. Caruth was returned to Congress by 3,027 majority. Two years ago his majority was 148.

THE two great parties are more evenly divided than ever before. About thirty members of the Fifty-first Congress have been elected by majorities of less than fifty votes and several States were almost evenly balanced.

WELL, the South seems still pretty solid. But the North is knocked out of New Jersey and Connecticut, and escaped losing New York, Indiana and California by a scratch. We must really break up the solid North—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Suppose we try it in 1892. We have four years to get ready.

THERE was a slight error in the official returns from this district published yesterday, but it made a big difference in the vote in Bracken County. The Democrats polled 1,702 votes instead of only 1,072 as stated in last issue. Cleveland's majority in that county was 636.

A PROMINENT government official at Washington City, who will retire with the present administration, will turn his attention to the development of Eastern Kentucky. He says that is the "coming country," and is evidently convinced there is money to be made by investments in this rich mineral section of our State.

THE Democrats of the Tenth Kentucky district had a bitter fight over the nomination for Congress and Judge Day's defeat can be attributed to that more than to anything else. Had there been perfect unity and harmony in their ranks they would have defeated Wilson. In close districts it is throwing away all chances of winning to squabble and fight over the nomination.

SOME of the Republicans in the upper end of the district think Lewis County failed to do her duty by Major Burchett. One of them writing to the Ashland Republican says:

"The Commanding General and his aide and orderlies should answer for this defeat, as they manipulated things in and after the Congressional Convention. Burchett is not to blame, as he was governed by others."

Judge Thomas is no doubt the "Commanding General" referred to and the indications are that Burchett will call for explanations all round.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND and the Democratic party were right and deserved to succeed. The principle of tariff reform has only met with a temporary defeat; sooner or later it will triumph. There must be no back track taken upon this question. The issue so courageously taken by President Cleveland in the interest of the whole people must not be abandoned. Our flag has been nailed to the mast and there it must remain.

These are the words of David Bennett Hill, the intrepid leader who has lately carried New York for the third time. They have the right ring and stamp him as the true and fearless Democrat that he is.

THE recent election shows that the Democracy of Fleming have quit fighting each other and turned their guns on the enemy. Speaking on this point the Times-Democrat says: "The Democracy of Fleming County to-day stands united more solidly than ever, and there is a full and resolute determination to stand by the party colors in all future contests, and not to allow outside issues to creep in and disturb the harmonious working of the party machinery."

So be it. Let them remember this determination. It will result in good to the party.

THERE has been a very marked increase in manufacturing enterprises at Ashland since 1880, especially in the iron industry. In that year the census reported in the whole of Boyd County sixty manufactories, with $1,600,000 of capital, employing 802 hands, and turning out products valued at $1,495,694. In 1887 Ashland alone had $2,492,000 of capital thus invested, employing 2,185 hands, and making products valued at $2,200,000. Industrial enterprises are necessary for the prosperity of any city, and we hope to see renewed interest in such matters here in Maysville ere long. The completion of the M. & B. S. Railroad should mark a new era in the history of our city.

DEAD MEN'S CREDITORS

Not Entitled to the Proceeds of Life Insurance Policies—Supreme Court Decision.

The Supreme Court of the United States, through Chief-Justice Fuller, has rendered an opinion of unusual interest to holders of life insurance policies. Thomas L. Hume, of the District of Columbia, died in 1881, totally insolvent, but leaving $35,000 in life insurance policies. The policies were by their terms payable either to the widow or children of the deceased.

The administrators and creditors of Hume's estate sought to force application of the proceeds of the policies to the payment of the debts due the creditors, on the grounds that the premiums paid by Hume were a fraudulent transfer of an insolvent's estate and void as against creditors, and that consequently the proceeds of the policies should inure to the benefit of Hume's estate, and not to the beneficiaries named in the policies.

The Supreme Court holds that the beneficiaries are entitled to the proceeds of all the policies without any deduction whatever on account of premiums paid, holding that a husband and father has a full right to insure his life in the interest of his wife and children, and that when such policies are effected in the name of the beneficiaries they are no part of the estate of a deceased insolvent, and, therefore, can not be regarded as a fraudulent assignment of any part of his estate when so effected.

THE negroes at Paris almost took the town when the Commercial Gazette, with the eagle flying, was delivered there after the recent election. One said: "Now I'll git plenty to eat and plenty to wear, fur dat eagle says so—your hear dat eagle!" But the Bourbon News doesn't think so. It says: "In less than three months many of them will, as usual, be soliciting among the Democrats, from whom they draw their entire support, for alms for the necessities of life for their living, and the necessities of death for their dead."

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 27, 1888—Swift's Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: I was the early part of the present year, a bad case of blood poison appeared upon me. I began taking S. S. S. under advice of another, and today I feel greatly improved. I am still taking the medicine and shall continue to do so until I am perfectly well. I believe it will effect a perfect cure. Yours truly,
Doc. P. HOWARD,

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 7, 1888—The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: I was a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism for two years. I could get no permanent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took over a dozen bottles of your S. S. S., and now I am as well as I ever was in my life. I am sure your medicine cured me, and I would recommend it to any one suffering from any blood disease. Yours truly,
Conductor C. & G. R. R.

WACO, TEXAS, May 9, 1888—Gentlemen: The wife of one of my customers was terribly afflicted with a loathsome skin disease, that covered her whole body. She was confined to her bed for several years by this affliction, and could not help herself at all. She could not sleep from a violent itching and stinging of the skin. The disease baffled the skill of the physicians who treated it. Her husband began finally giving her Swift's Specific, and she commenced to improve almost immediately, and in a few weeks she was apparently well. She is now a hearty, frolicking lady, with no trace of the affliction left. Yours very truly,

IN RAIN AND MUD.

The Republicans Parade and Jollify Over the Election of Harrison and Morton.

One hundred and sixty-seven whites and four hundred and seventy-two negroes.

That is the number of Republicans who turned out yesterday to jollify over the election of Harrison and Morton.

It was a bad day for a turnout. Cold and rainy, and the streets were very muddy.

The cannon was fired at intervals during the forenoon from the summit of "Sugar Loaf."

At two o'clock the procession moved from Third and Market over the line of march previously mapped out. Captain Hutchins, General Marshal, and several of his assistants, all on horseback, led the crowd.

Next came Hauck's Band, who were followed by a line of footmen carrying banners, on which had been daubed some "hits" on the local Democracy. Next followed a motley crowd of whites and blacks, of almost every age, men and women, boys and girls, in hacks and wagons and on horseback, with the Big Six Band, of the Fifth ward, the Sardis Cornet Band and the traveling troupe of musicians sandwiched at intervals. There was one "little old log cabin" on a wagon, with a coon skin nailed over the door. The stars and stripes were seen on most every hand. Bells were rung, the kids laughed and shouted, and the men yelled and the bands played as the crowd went marching on in the mud and rain. The procession disbanded at Market street, after going over the line of march. There was no public speaking.

Just How it Was Done.

In a private letter from Dr. Henry Marsh, of Muncie, Ind., he attributes the recent Democratic defeat in that State to the free use of money. He's about right. Politics has reached that stage where the "floater" has a good deal to say as to who shall control the affairs of the Nation.

The Doctor drops into verse on the subject of the recent defeat and says:

"What's the matter with Indiana,
 This grand old Hoosier State,
 That she should go and do this way
 And leave us to such fate?"

"She held the power for good or bad,
 And we thought it 'awful funny'
 Until the 'floater' came along
 And quietly demanded the money."

"He stood about with a 'two-for-five'
 And placidly puffed a puff,
 The G. O. P. gave a knowing wink
 And then he got the 'stuff'."

"He buttoned his coat and smiled a smile,
 As he sneaked up to the poll,
 He dropped in a ballot for 'Chinaman Ben'
 And then sneaked into his hole."

"What's the matter with Indiana?
 My answer's true but not 'funny.'
 The 'floater' held the 'balance of power,'
 The G. O. P. the money."

Sold a Dead Horse.

A Ripley special to the Enquirer on the 14th says: "The slickest horse trade on record occurred here last night. Joe Yearsley, a young shoemaker of this city, owned an old plug about which the boys was continually joking him. Among the latter was Will Mockbee, who said he wouldn't give $2 for it. Yesterday the old nag died, and afterward in a joke, Yearsley offered to sell him 'just as he stands' for sixteen hands of tobacco. Mockbee, thinking it a bluff, accepted the proposition and posted a forfeit. Yearsley agreed to deliver the horse at 7 o'clock this morning, and at that hour a dray stopped in front of Mockbee's who was apprised of the animal's arrival. Imagine his consternation on finding the horse dead. Mockbee says he will never trade in horses again."
